Concert Band Ends State-Wide Tour

roximately 20,000 music enthusimainly students, the San Francisco State College Concer Band under the direction of Mr Lee Chrisman, conductor, and Mr Edwin Kruth, associate conductor returned on Friday, February 3, from the first five day tour in the history of the college.

Composed of 83 voluntary mem ers, majoring in music, with about 80 per cent planning to become music teachers, the band performed in eight central California cities including Pittsburg, Santa Rosa, Sebastopol, Stockton, Salinas, Pacific Grove and Hollister, in order to bring concert band music to as many people in California as pos sible, to inspire high school stu dents to further their music edu cation and to give the band an op portunity to see the many depart ments of music in the state.

According to Mr. Chrisman, suc cess of the tour can be attributed to some four months of time-consuming planning and preparations for the scheduled concerts, trans-portation, housing facilities and expenses, along with the co-opera tion of the many music instructor and administrative heads of the schools visited, of the officers and leaders of the band, and lastly, the band itself which contributed the fine musicianship and professional attitude that shaped the tour into one which will be remembered for Anyone unable to pay the $8 fee for a card may work out the payment. This may be done by coming to Hut 4-A and seeing Mr. John Gray, administrator of student affairs

There will be strict control ove illegal use of membership cards this semester. The cards are being stamped as to whether the card holder is male or female and the class to which the holder belongs. Anyone using a card illegally will have the card confiscated on the

Mr. Gray stated, "Anyone who lends his student body card is hurt-ing no one but himself." If you lend your membership card it causes a reduction in service. When a card is loaned. $16 worth of service is lost. The person who lends his card loses his services and the loss of a card sale to the non-card holder.

The card sales are being turned over to on-campus service organ-izations for future sales. However students may still purchase a card in Hut 4-A, the Associated Student Body office, at any time. Mr. Gray urges everyone to buy. The more cards sold, the better the benefits

The services now provided to holders are: membership in campus organizations, 10 per cent discount on all cafeteria purchases, services of the Health Center, free admission to associated student sponsored dances, reduced admission to organization dances, and dmission to athletic events.

Mr. Gray urges all students to get behind the card sales drive to-day and sell all students on the idea of a strong student body.

Unethical Journalism Charged During Three-Hour Meeting

A grim and determined Board of Directors administered a blistering verbal spanking to the Golden Gater last Tuesday in the Activities Room. The Board contended that members of the Golden Gater editorial staff had overstepped the principles of good journalism as defined by the Publications policy which or good journalism as defined by the Publications policy which was recently passed by the Board. Board members cited inaccuracies, poor taste, lack of thorough investigation and bad timing in certain articles printed in the last issue of the paper. It was alleged that Golden Gater staff members had not acted in the best interests of the Associated Students or the college. Basing their arguments on the publication policy, the Board held the Golden Gater had violated five sections of their governing code.

PUBLICATION POLICY

The contested points in the polcy were:

1—Article I, section D. Student publications will be governed at all times by the principles of good journalism and journalistic ethics.

2-Article I, section E. Student publications will always attempt o give prestige and eminence to he Associated Students and the college as a whole. 3-Article III, section A. Student publications are to be objective and positive at all times, except as noted.

4—Article III, section D. Student opinions will be published at peared in the last issue of the Golden Gater. Commencing with the Editor's Notes column written by Jack Bradshaw, editor of the Golden Gater, Mr. Schwerdt cited the items on F. E. P. C., Ward Carr and Joe Verducci as specific viola-tions of the Publications policy.

The F. E. P. C. item commented on the Board of Supervisors recen shelving of fair employment prac-tice legislation, which, the Board felt, was in violation of Article III section E, of the Publications pol icy. It was the opinion of the Board that such an issue as F. E. P. C. does not concern the college and is not really of interest to the Article I, section E, was quoted in reference to Editor Bradshaw's comment on Ward Carr, P. E. instructor, whom he reported was being fired. The criticism was of Mr. Bradshaw's lack of a thorough investigation into the matter through the proper channels.

EDITORIALS ATTACKED

Switching the attack from the Editor's Notes column to the editorials which were also written by Mr. Bradshaw, the Board of Directors again quoted Article I, section E, and Article III, section D, as being violated. (The editorial questioned the $16,000 minimum that would have to be gained by card sales.) It was pointed out that if the editor had examined the books he would know why that amount of money had to be raised. The lowering of the student card would have to be gained by card and Article III, sections A and D.
The Board felt that the article did not give it any prestige. In answer to a further allegation in the editorial, which held that the Golden Gater should be made more readily available to non-student card hold-ers, Mr. Schwerdt, speaking for the Board, commented: "It isn't accurate. The student card holders are the only ones entitled to the pa-ner" eye of Mr. Schwerdt who cited the item about the Board and the poor student voting as ignoring Article I, section D, of the Publication pol-icy. He remarked: "It doesn't seem to be accurate."

REPUTATION ASSAILED

Another article which came in for considerable criticism from the Board, and President Ryan in par-

President Ryan went on to state that while the Golden Gater has the right to criticize the faculty, it should not concern itself with administration policy such as the hiring or firing of an instructor. On the F. E. P. C. issue President Ryan pointed out that no downtown paper would comment on such a conroversial issue without first informing its publisher (the Board of Directors is the publisher of the Golden Gater). As an additional point, President Ryan said, "F. E. P. C. does not affect us, but it (Bradshaw's item) assumes that the college unanimously condemns the Board of Supervisors.

Activities Commissioner Jim
Schwerdt voiced the objections of the Board to specific items that appeared in the last issue of the Caldon Cates. Commencing with law with last issue of a caldon Cates. Commencing with last issues concern us vitally. He cited the case of a caldon Cates. Negro graduate of State who, though considered fully qualified by this college, was unable to obtain a position because of prevalent discriminatory codes.

The information for the Ward Carr story had been obtained from Mr. Carr himself. Coach Carr had seen the article since its publication, but offered no comment which, claimed Mr. Bradshaw, fur-ther substantiated the truth of the item. On the reference to Joe Verducci he confessed he couldn't see what objection the Board had to it. Reginald Bell, Dean of Student Personnel and Guidance, supplied the information. "It wasn't exact-ly an enthusiastic welcome," he said.

EDITORIAL DEFENDED

Concerning the editorial on the $16,000 card sale minimum, Mr. Bradshaw remarked, "The neces-sity for the $16,000 might have been in the budget we printed, but who understands it?" Dr. Charles Bradshaw's column was the reference to Joe Verducci and the A. McClelland, faculty representative on the Board, exclaimed; coach. #### Another "Special" Week

Shortly after the last war, 1945 to be exact, there was enacted another one of those special weeks of which the U.S. has so many. There are weeks set aside to honor the dill pickle, rain, sunshine, sun-tan lotion and umbrellas, but seldom do these periods elicit more from us than a cursory glance toward an appropriate poster, and usually not this much at-

The danger of so many "special" weeks is, of course, decreasing public interest and general apathy toward what sometimes is a genuine and sincere appeal. Let us hope that next week, National Brotherhood Week, does not pass by without a little thought by each of us as to its meaning, pur-

We do not think it needs much explanation, just more thought. A man may be of a different race, color or religion. but his rights upon this earth should be inviolable and equal. If they are not, then the idea of brotherhood to every man must remain the prime consideration in everything we do. The one sad note underlying National Brotherhood Week is the realization that it is indeed necessary.

Golden Gater's New Crew

Appropriate at this time is a kick-off editorial from the newly-appointed staff of the college paper. It usually ends up with everyone concerned walking hand in hand to greet the rosy-fingered dawn of a new era, but like election promises, the only changes are the names of the new officers.

Around us this term is a working staff of volunteers whose only interest is producing a Golden Gater of which State can be proud. We're not going to make any rash promises about what is going to happen to the publication this semester, but we do say this: The recent survey has indicated what kind of paper you want, the course you want us to take. It is a big enge, but we're going to tackle it. What the final product will be cannot be determined except by the most optimistic or pessmistic. The rest of us are not betting.

Finally, we invite your participation in producing the Golden Gater, either through letters to this office or by coming down here personally, Hut 4-B, to talk over your suggestions. It is through this kind of reciprocal action that the best paper can finally emerge.

Student Government: A Vital Issue

by Bob Donovan

Student government is of vital Student government is of vital concern to every student, whether he is a member of the Associated Students or not. Government on the State campus is democracy in action in microcosm. Every student should be aware of the function and purpose of the Associated Students and the specific relationship he has with his student government. At State the executive government.

At State the executive govern-ing body is the Board of Direc-tors which is composed of twelve students and four faculty members. Working within the frame-work of their constitution the Board attempts to provide cam-pus activities which can most effectively be achieved through the Associated Students.

The present corporation known as the Associated Students grew out of the loosely knit federation of campus organizations which held elections for only the three seat on the Board of Directors. While the original incorporation move was designed to lower tax nents it served to give a sence and stability to the student government structure which had not previously existed.

When the constitution was drawn up provision was made for the future expansion of the college in the structure of the Board of Directors. At the time the constitution was drawn up in May, 1944, the total number of students attending the college did not exceed 800, but by providing for a sixteen member Board it still can effectively

Early problems that plagued the Board were resignations and the necessity of appointments. While the constitution provided for an election of officers the war-time situation made it necessary to appoint students to the Board. Also there was a huge turnover in Board personnel for much the same reason.

Behind every organization there must be a motivating reason for its existence. The Board acts as a medium through which students can present sugges-tions to the faculty. It also serves as an educational workshop in government and by be-ing the voice of the Associated Students it can speak more effec-

Many of the group.

Many of the current problems that the Board faces stem from the lack of adequate channels of communication between the student groups. Such minor boards Creative Arts Production Board, the Athletic Council and the Board of Publication probably undergo some changes in order to overcome some of their weaknesses. On the prob-lem of lack of contact between to student apathy. Actually it is the right as well as the duty of students to contact their executive officers and make known wants

As a general definition student government should be posi-tive and yet flexible enough to allow for expansion of services and authority. It should be will-ing to recognize its weaknesses and willing to strive for improvement Increasing the number members on the Board will not improve the representation of the student body. As things now stand the percentage of student participation in govern-ment is not much higher or lower than it is at comparable colleges. Lack of funds more than student apathy is hampering the student government in working towards its ultimate goals.

Two years ago such a feat as this was considered impossible when even the most simple pro-ductions were carted across to the Aptos auditorium and similar far away places. Even then a major production could only hope to fill half the available

Finally some creative genius hit upon a plan to utilize the Frederic Burk auditorium stage. Since it was far too small in its original size, an apron was built extending into the audience, which almost doubled the stage which aimost doubled the stage area. Because of this innovation it was possible to stage the major production of "Yellow Jack" in Frederic Burk and every suceding production since.

One very crowded classroom contains all the hustle and bustle of backstage life. The one room serves as a prop store room, make-up room and dressing room. Privacy while changing es is afforded by piled up boxes and screens.

The problem of lighting stood out as the biggest buggaboo because there were no spotlights, in fact there wasn't even a switchboard. Mr. C. A. Miller, assistant professor of drama, came to the rescue and, sided by several students, constructed a switchboard which can handle most lighting problems. Spot-lights were hung from the ceiling and the auditorium, walls ere cobwebbed with cables.

SPORTS BEAT

By GORDON RADDUE

Amazing is the word for the success achieved by Ward Carr's boxing stalwarts in racking up three straight wins in enemy territory, during their rugged six-day tour of Oregon, Idaho and Nevada.

Sending a team on such a mission is a notoriously dangerous undertaking, what with that deadly germ, the "home-town decision," lying in wait at each stop. According to Carr and his boys, many of the Gater punch-masters were "given the works" in the hand raising de-

This is highly conceivable, for it is a known fact that boxing judges are definitely influenced, to varying degrees, by the roar of the crowd. It happens right here in San Francisco at both amateur and professional fights, though not nearly as much as it does in the small towns where the Gaters displayed their fistic wares on road trips.

Carr's battlers will need all the crowd clamor that can be mustered up at Coliseum Bowl February 25, when they are called on to meet the mean Spartans from San Jose State, second best college team of the nation in 1949. Piece de resistance of the card will be the opening tiff between State's outstanding feather merchant, John Fisher, and Mac Martines, national intercollegiate 125-pound champ.

Incidentally, o show how State's fame is spreading in the intercollegiate boxing world, the Gater squad was billed as "nationally ranked" at Caldwell, Idaho. Judging by their fabulous success, the local fighters must have played their role with authority. Despite the grueling road tour, which included a fast whip through minus 18 degree weather in Oregon, the State boxers, said Carr, actually performed in best condition at the final stop, Reno, where they shellacked what is hailed as the best Nevada team in history by a 51/2-21/2 count.

The Spartan jousts are a tall order, probably too much to ask of the Gaters. But rise or fall, the men of Ward Carr have put boxing at its highest level in the history of State College.

In past years, State has never had anything fesembling a spring football practice. Official word is out that it will be tried again this term, and this time it should work with Joe Verducci at the helm and a bigger crop of material to select from.

Schools like Fresno State, Santa Barbara College and others with good small college reputations are falling within reach of the rising State elevens. If future State teams can reach up, grab and bag some of these opponents, it will represent a great advance for the Gaters. It falls upon the lot of the present run of State gridders to start this movement going, so get ready you men for some spring practice sessions that will be worthy of the name.

State's basketball team has taken quite a buffeting about from opponents this season for various reasons, such as lack of height and numerous lineup changes, but Coach Dan Farmer sees a highly improved team in store for next season. Main reason for this is the recent addition of the tall and formidable Sutton Twins, Bill and Leo to the Buchanan Heights cage fold. With scoring sensation, Chuck Crawford, thrown in to boot, Farmer will for the first time in his coaching tenure at State have a good, tall team to work with.

With this prospect in mind, I would like to see State get a basketball schedule to equal the ability of its team. Despite a miserable season schedule to equal the ability of its team. Despite a miserable season record of six wins against 17 losses, the Tide meshers have shown well against such top opposition as San Jose State, College of Pacific and Sacramento State. Off their excellent performances against these teams, State should be leading the Far Western Conference instead of Houndering in second to last place.

Perhaps, what State basketball teams need is stiffer competition during the season to push them to their ultimate efforts. The Far Western Conference fives that have beaten State are essentially running teams that outhustle the Gaters to win. In my estimation the class that State quintets would develop from playing better local oppo sition could carry them to mastery of their own loop. It's no disgrace for State to lose to a better team outside its own conference. St. Mary's can testify to that from its weekly Cow Palace drubbings at the hands of top ranking opponents. State is not going to carve a niche in athletics until its teams are able to outdistance their Far Western rivals, and only strong competi-tion can mold worthy champions. With a decent gym on its way up at Lake Merced. State can well afford to step up in class, and perhaps

25 Prospects Sign For Ténnis Berths

Twenty-five prospective net-sters have signed up for Dan Farmer's eight man varsity tennis

Wayne Murphy is the only re-turning varsity player. The single returning letterman, John Holden, has played only for the jayvees. Other returning jayvee players include Jim Bragg, Bill Batchelder, Joe Bottino, Bill Ross, Art Malby, Bill Ashton, Bill Wishard, Earl Lo wart and Alex Swetka.

Much of the competition will be for the number one spot left va-cant by Joe Woolfson, who won 49 out of 54 games in three years of net play.

Other men signed up include:
Robert Larson, Milt Castlebury,
Gene Merlino, Tim White, Norm

Kimura Promils, But Matmen Lose

Joe Kimura's unbeaten record remains intact, but State's wrestling team bowed to Cal Poly last Friday by six points. Kimura, 128 pounder, doesn't get a write-up in every paper, but he really deserves recognition as one of the best wrestlers State has ever had. Jerry Friedman won the 135-lb. classic after a slow start. Bob Branderberry got into the spotlight with one of the most exciting bouts of the night. Bob scored the only pin for State during the night.

The other State wrestlers in the Cal Poly meet were Ramoid Curiel, Bob Cunningham, Adolph Kelly and Captain Russ Messerole.

The State grapplers will wrestle at the San Francisco Central Y. M. C. A. tomorrow in the Senior P.A.A.

State Cagers Close Season Tomorrow

Unbeaten Tide Scrappers Face Wildcats at Chico

Hoping to lay a record of seven straight wins on the line against San Jose State February 25 at Coliseum Bowl, Coach Ward Carr's boxers shoot for the "natural" against Chico State's brawlers at Chico tomorrow night at 8

The Gater fistic stock, which was sent soaring by a highly successful northern swing, got and added lift in the addition of four City College of San Francisco ransfers.

The newcomers are Len Garcia 130-pounder; Joe Karp, 135; and Heavyweights Herb Brown and Walter Jarden. The addition of Brown, amazingly agile for his 210 pounds, gives the team strength at a berth that has been a weak spot his season.

All four newcomers have im-pressed in gym workouts, and will probably see action against the Wildcat millers.

With Captain Jim Hughes and John Fisher leading the way, the Gaters made a clean sweep of their northern invasion by measuring Southern Oregon and College of Idaho, both by 5-3 scores, and Nevada by a 5½-2½ count.

Hughes and Fisher each notched Hughes and Fisher each notched their sixth successive win up north, while Tony Jeong and Fuzzy Freschet, also undefeated, won their fourth and fifth respective bouts. Switch-hitting Jack Campbell, clever 145-pounder, chalked up a key win in the Idaho triumph, but has been sidelined for the season with an agretic murning. with an aortic murmur.

His loss to the team, however has been mitigated by the return to form of Ted Abbott, who was kept home from the northern engagements with a case of bronchial eumonia

Off to a slow start this season after breaking an ankle playing football, Abbott has shown well in ound class.

Boyd has been very good at time: this season, but has shown a need for further experience. If Good-win goes well against Chico, he will be the man for his division

Jayvee Hoopsters Lower Curtain on Winning Campaign

By FRANK GALO

Using 22 men, Coach Ray Kaufnan's highly-geared junior varsity asketball team defeated Cal Agzies jayvees, 52-49, last Friday night at Kezar Pavilion to conclude their season in a blaze of glory.

Led by Forward Ray Enjaian who played his last game as a se nior, the Baby Gaters roared to a 31-19 half time lead. At one time Kaufman's Kids led by 24 points and the bench was cleared.

Enjaian took scoring honors with 16 points, followed by Dick Silva's 11 and Howie Schinnerer's nine. Silva, who excelled both on of-tense and defense, was very effecive as a feeder.

It was the jayvee's eleventh win in 19 outings. Credited with the team's success was Kaufman's ef-ficient handling of the squad. Cona fast start at State, with candidates for Coach Ray Kaufman's team already undergoing daily workouts at Cox Stadium. fronted by more than 45 men at the start of the season, Kaufman suc-ceeded in molding a winning club.

This year's edition of the junior cagers contributed Ernie Domecus and Bob Keropian to the varsity.
Other jayvee standouts, besides those already mentioned, were Homer Zugelder, Owen Kashevaroff

Two Game Series Opens With Sacramento Tonight

By FRANK GALO

Coach Dan Farmer's basketball troupe pitches camp at Sacramento this afternoon for a two-night stand against Sacramento State's Hornets. It will be the last two games for the locals, who have experienced a not too victorious season

The last time the Gaters met the Kapital Kids, State stomped on them for a 61-46 verdict. Since then the Gaters ran into a deluge of defeats while Sacramento has turned into a nifty outfit.

However, the Gater cause is not ost yet. The addition of the Sutton twins, Leo and Bill, has given State the much desired height that it lacked all season. Both are reg-istered as freshmen.

Last week the Gaters upset College of the Pacific, 48-43, and then dropped two Far Western Conference games to Cal Aggies. 48-39 ence games to Cal Aggies, 48-39 and 66-44.

The COP tilt, played at spacious City College gym, proved to be the most dramatic contest of the year.

As for the Cal Aggies series,
State put up a good game the first

Rumors of adrenalin shots, dope and saliva test started circulating in the sparse crowd.

ojor Domo Farmer inserted John Walsh and Ken Perry, the ex-Fresh mont High School aces, and the Gater victory drive was underway. The two went on a scoring spree along with Athanasopoulos and Curt Forsman.

With a little over two minutes remaining, Chuck Crawford scored to narrow the gap to 41-39. Seconds later, Athanasopoulos tied the game up with a set-up and as the scorekeeper was marking it down, the "Greek" stole the ball from COP and fired a pass to Forsman, who promptly scored to put State ahead, 43-41. All this inside of a minute.

It mattered not that COP's Hank Pfister scored at the end, for Walsh, Crawford and Jimmy Wong added five "security" points.

Walsh was high point man with 11 digits, 10 coming in the second half. Athanasopoulos and Forsman, both held scoreless in the first half, scored seven points each. However, it was Athanasopoulos' inspired play throughout the game that provided the Gaters with vic-the sparse crowd.

Midway in the second half Mawith eight points apiece.

Add spec item: Barbara Roberts has officially resigned her position as student director of publications. This writes a rather reluctant '30' to one of the most colorful journalistic careers on the campus. Taking up the legendary newspaperman's banner some two and a half years ago, the amiable Miss Roberts has led the fight for the respected rights of publications since she first saw the sun of a newspaper. The staff wishes her well, and File 13 stows her name along with Marne Camp's as a part of the Golden Gater Office which has mellowed to a never-to-be-forgotten legend.

Chuck seems to be a fairly common name, but sports writers in and out of the city get lost when they give write-ups to basketeer Chuck Crawford of the local five. Not only have they called him Bob, Bill, Joe and Horatio, but the clincher came following the State-Humboldt game, where the ace hit the hoop for 38 points: "State beat Humboldt tonight," horn-rimmed Ira Blue commented over KGO. "One boy scored 38 points... his name, however, has been lost in the shuffle." Poor Richard Crawford.
